

What if You Aren't Cooperating? How to Get a Divorce Without Killing Each Other, Going Broke or Ruining Your Kids

If emotional or physical abuse is part of your relationship, mediation may not be appropriate. See note below.

Fighting over the kids?

Coparenting with a jerk?

How do we split holidays?

I want them 50% of the time!

What parenting plan is best?

Fighting over property?

What if we both want the house?

How do we divide debts?

Lost in the number of decisions to be made?

Not sure what to do next?

Can't talk about it with each other?

Certified Mediator & Advanced Practitioner Linda Gryczan will work with you to de-escalate past conflict so you can put your children first.

She will help you decide how the children can get the best of both of you, while you raise them together in separate households.

Linda can calculate child support or refer you to Child Support Enforcement Division (CSED).

Linda will help you separate assets fairly by helping you decide among many methods of coming to agreement.

You will consult with an accountant for the best tax advantage, and so you know the short and long term consequences of your decisions and keep the most money in your family.

Linda can create a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to outline your financial agreements.

Before you sign any legal document, you will consult with separate attorneys for an hour or two, to make sure you understand the immediate and long term effect of your decisions. Contact Mediation Works here.

Helena dad, upon entering mediation, "This will never work! We walked out of the last mediation in 20 minutes." 1 hour later after maximizing parenting time for both parents, "You are a miracle worker."

Are you leaving a controlling or violent relationship?

You do not have to mediate, even if ordered by a judge. (MCA 40-4-301)

If you believe mediation is the best way for your family to make decisions, Linda will work with you to set up a meeting that is as emotionally and physically safe as possible.
